FURTHER DECLINES IN WHEAT MARKET TODAY

London Tin and Spelter Higher; With Exception of Brief Rally, Thanksgiving Produce and Bears Control Throughout the Day.

CHICAGO, Nov 22.—Grain prices on the local exchange declined sharply to-day because of liquidation of the Decem-ber delivery. At the close wheat for December delivery showed a net loss of 1&@1ic. Corn was down 2c. Oats were 1ic lower, and provisions 20c to 32ic lower.

ligitic. Corn was down 2%c. Oats were 1%c lower, and provisions 2%c to 32%c lower.

The wheat market was nervous and prices fluctuated over a range of 2c. The feature of trade was the selling of December holdings by longs. The market was weak all day with the exception of a brief period near the end of the first hour, when prices advanced approximately 1c on buying by shorts, based on a late raily at Liverpool, where prices had been 1d lower. Aside from the desire on the part of longs to dispose of the December holdings, the market was bearishly affected by Argentina advices. The reports from that country received early in the session told of favorable weather for the crop, while later dispatches predicted that a large proportion of the new crop will be available for export.

The market closed weak. December opened 1% is to 1% lower, at 90%c to 1%c sold up to 91%c and then declined to 89%c. The close was at 91%c. May opened is to it lower, at 90%c to 1%c sold up to $1.01% and broke to 99%c. The close was at 91%c. The close was at 91%c. The close was at 91%c and then declined to $1.01% and broke to 99%c. The close was at 91%c. Lower cables, clear weather for the corn belt and a decline of cash grain were the chief weakening influences. Part of the loss was regained on covering by shorts, but the close was weak. December opened is lower, at 5%c, sold off to 52%c and closed at 52%c. The weakness of wheat and corn had a depressing effect on oats, prices declining from it to lie from the high point of the session. Trade, which was light was mainly in the May delivery. December opened is to be lower, at 45%, sold off to 44% and closed at 45%. May ranged between 48% and 19% and closed at 15%, a net loss of 14% 12c. Local receipts were 11% cars.

a net loss of 14@14c. Local receipts were 116 cars.

Provisions were weak because of selling pressure from longs and local packers. A decline of 10c to 20c in the price of live hogs and the slump in grains were bearish factors. At the close January pork was off 324c, at $12.174. Lard was down 20c, at $7.474. Ribs were 224c @25c lower, at $6.524.

TURKEYS AND BERRIES

Poultry Appear in Local Market.

With Thanksgiving less than a week away many changes in the displays on the market stands as the new things arrive evidence preparations for the holiday trade.

The first of the newcomers is the grape fruit. The early fall supply gave out about the middle of October and there has been none on the market stands since then. Five boxes were received from California by express Friday. These are all in sight so far and the market men, while they express a desire for the fruit, say that it is almost impossible to procure it. This shipment is of excellent quality and good size, and the fruit will sell for 10 cents each.

The feature of the Thanksgiving market will be the king of birds, as formerly, together with the kindred staple cranberries. The birds are already coming in, and can be seen hanging in rows in the produce stalls. The cranberries are now coming in, some from Wisconsin, but the bulk from Cape Cod, where they raise berries fit for association with the goblers that will grace tables next Thursday. The cranberries are selling for 15 cents a quart just now, and although not much is being said about any change in the price, some of the market men volunteered the information several days ago that the price would go up to 25 cents a quart before Thanksgiving.

Bradstreet's Review.

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—Bradstreet's tomorrow will say
While a number of cities report that the tone of affairs has taken a turn for the better, actual business, taking the country as a whole, shows an increased degree of quiet, both at wholesale and retail, working out of the continued scarcity of currency at some points of iessening activity in industry, and of the continuance of the mild weather with its natural effect upon distribution of winter goods. There is evident in the wholesale trade circles an indisposition to do business for future periods, and the large numbers of cancellations resulting from the past unsettlement are a subject of widespread discussion. In some lines, notably steel and from and cotton goods, traders generally have set their faces against encouraging this movement, and a hopeful sign is that some buyers who were stampeded early have since reconsidered their action and asked that goods be shipped. Still, buying at wholesale is in a high degree conservative, and the disposition is to confine purchasing to present wants. As to this latter caeure, however, it might be well to remember that the day-to-day buying of $4,000,000 people makes up a considerable volume in the aggregate, and when conditions reach normal again many purchases earlier requested canceled or delayed may be accepted. Retail trade feels the effect of smaller movement of cereals from the farms, and although producers are reported more familiar with checks tendered in payment, lower prices now offered are a drawback to sales.

In industry the features are the work-NEW YORK, Nov. 22 .- Bradstreet's to-In industry the features are the work ing out more fully of the slowing-down tendency noted for several weeks past, the iron and steel industry with its kindred lines, such as coke and coal, showing quickest results. The feeling is widespread that the sharper and the quicker this process occurs the seener showing quickest results. The feeling is widespread that the sharper and the quicker this process occurs the soener the situation will right itself when confidence is fully restored.

The lumber industry is quieter, and Southern lumber and manufacturing operations are reported less active.

Collections are rather slower and some attention has been excited by the requests made from some States that all creditors be lenient in order that the interests of all be protected.

The currency promium lessened at New York early in the week, but laier on became more marked. The fact is that demands from the interior keep up strongly, which is possibly explained by the reports that country banks are taking in large quantities of currency, but not making new loans, and some institutions are reported to be carrying much larger supplies than are absolutely necessary.

CASHIERS' CHECKS Look Good To Us

Better bring them in and incidentally you might get a package of that Radiator Enamel.

This enamel is as good as the checks—both have a tendency to brighten-one the home, the other, the money market.
